TWO CRUISERS OF ALLIES ARE PUT OUT OF ACTION

Berlin Reports Disablement Of Ships in Constantinople Bombardment

FRENCH VESSEL SAID TO HAVE BEEN AFIRE

British Admiralty Emphatically Contradicts German Statement and Says Ships Are Safe Outside of the Turkish Fire—Nearly All Civilians Have Fled From Constantinople Since Shelling of Coast Towns Began—Allied Fleet Continues Attack on the Forts and Defenses, the Queen Elizabeth Using the New Method of Indirect Fire, the Forts Being Out of Sight.

(By United Press)

London, March 8. — One French cruiser was put out of action and an English cruiser was damaged on Sunday afternoon in the fighting at the Dardanelles, according to reports received officially from Constantinople by wireless from Berlin. Later unofficial reports confirmed the claims, stating that shells fell upon the deck of the French steamer from the Turkish forts, which slowly steamed outside the firing line, her hulk in flames. Little was said regarding the damage done the British cruiser.

Denied by Admiralty

The British admiralty have firmly contradicted the statements, saying that when they last received reports from the ships they were safe outside the Turkish fire.

According to reports from Athens, nearly all the civilians have fled from the city since the shelling of the coast town by the allied fleet. Part of the troops have been grooped so as to guard the railway from destruction, and inside the strait they are maintaining a stubborn defense.

Shell Inner Defenses

The bombardment of the inner defenses of the Dardanelles and the defenses on the gulf of Saros continued Saturday and today much in the same manner as on the preceding days, the dreadnought Queen Elizabeth battering away at the works on the Asiatic side of the strait by the indirect method of attack, while a part of the fleet poured in a direct fire from within the passageway. A statement issued yesterday by the French ministry of marine at Paris and telegraphed here says:

Queen Elizbeth Busy

"The battleship Queen Elizabeth, stationed in the gulf of Saros, bombarded by indirect fire March 6 the two large works on the Asiatic side of the strait which defend the narrows near Chanak, namely, Forts Hamidiehi-Tabia and Hamidiehi-Sultanie. At the same time battleships which had penetrated the strait continued by direct fire the bombardment of the works at Dardanos, on the Asiatic

LEGISLATURE HAS MANY BILLS READY

Measure to Fix Salories of County Officials on The Calendar

Harrisburg, March 8.—The largest calendars of the present legislative session await the members of the two branches of the general assembly when they meet tonight for the eighth week of the session. Many bills will be introduced and it is likely that some of those recommended by Governor Brumbaugh will appear. The workmen's compensation acts will not be introduced until the suggestions being received are read and conferences had with labor leaders.

The senate has 16 bills on third reading, nine on second, including the amendments to the Philadelphia port laws, and 13 on first reading, including the woman suffrage amendment, cold storage bill, measure prohibiting unnaturalized foreigners from fishing in state streams and creating a third judgeship in Dauphin county.

In the house more than 40 bills are on the calendar. On third reading there is the general repealer of obsolete, invalid and other laws, which have been superseded or declared unconstitutional; bills to establish pension funds in first and second-class cities, for civil service in police, fire and electrical departments in third-class cities, and the Philadelphia housing code repealer. The Spangler bill to fix salaries for county officials in counties having under 150, ) population is on first reading. On second reading are 28 bills, including the early closing bill for liquor selling places, juvenile court and Allegheny county court amendments, requiring all public printing to be done within the state, requiring newspapers to file advertising rates before taking state advertising contracts and making third-class city treasurers elective by the people.

Tuesday night Governor Brumbaugh will meet the committee in charge of Republican platform bills and the same day several committees will give hearings, including that in charge of the optometry bills in the house.

The house appropriations committee will continue inspections and will start work on the preparation of the general appropriation bill.

HOTEL DE GINK IN NEW YORK CITY IS PROVING SUCCESS

Hostelry Established by King Of Hoboes Feeds Many Hungry Men

Is Being Conducted in a Very Satisfactory Manner and is Self-Supporting—Guests are Required to Work and Observe Stringent Rules of Conduct.

By Carlton Ten Eyck
(Written for the United Press)

New York, March 8.—The Hotel de Gink, derided and laughed at by city officials when Jeff Davis, the King of Hoboes, first "blew" into New York and suggested it, is a success. The members of the mayor's committee on employment now admit it. They left Jeff Davis and his bo's alone for a month. At the end of thirty days they went on an inspection tour; what they saw opened their eyes, economically, to quite a large extent.

On an average of two hundred men a day have been fed at the hotel since it opened; that is six hundred meals a day. The meals have cost on an average of slightly over two cents each and, furthermore, they have been clean, well cooked and satisfying. To be sure, there has been no cake and demi tasse served with them; neither do they start off with oysters, but none of the guests has found fault, and that is more than most hotels can say.

The Hotel de Gink has its own barber shop; its own tailoring establishment; its own judicial and law making bodies, and its own hospital. There isn't a policeman to be found within a radius of two blocks of the place.

And it has been self-supporting.

The city has had these men taken off its hands without one cent of cost to it. It solved an economic problem that had Judge Gary and his coworkers scratching their heads to find a solution for.

The city rented the dilapidated old building at Worth and Center streets to the bo's on credit. It had formerly been occupied by a button factory, which had left behind it several tons of white button dust. What to do with the stuff puzzled them for a time. Then one of their number conceived the idea of making a sort of white wash or calcimine of it. They did and the place was thoroughly renovated and made clean. Button manufacturers formerly paid to get this stuff taken off their hands. Now they are selling it for three to five dollars a ton.

The place was bare and dirty. It was cleaned. In cleaning, a great pile of old rusted pipe was found. This was taken and sawed into lengths of seven and one-half feet. The old rusty joints were screwed into shape, the short lengths were used

GIRL GOES 11,000 MILES FOR WEDDING

Indiana, Pa., March 8.—A romance which had its beginning at Perth Amboy, N. J., two years ago will end in a marriage at Sydney, Australia, early in April, when Miss May Brownlee, of this place, completes an 11,000-mile journey to her fiance, Hugh M. Henry, formerly of Perth Amboy, but now of Sydney. Miss Brownlee is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Day Brownlee, of East Church street. She is a graduate of Wilson college and finished the literary course in Columbia university in 1912 and later taught English in the Perth Amboy high school.

It was while engaged in this work that she became acquainted with Mr. Henry. When Mr. Henry left the United States for Sydney to engage in business he carried with him the promise that Miss Brownlee would join him later and become his bride.

She left here last week for San Francisco, from which place she sails on March 16 for Sydney.

Band of Bad Boys Fleece Local Dealers

For some time past Clearfield merchants have been annoyed and have lost considerable money through the activities of a band of boys ranging in age from 13 to 15 years. These boys live in Paradise and have been visiting grocery and other stores, ordering goods and having the same charged to their parents. The parents have known nothing of these transactions and when called upon to pay the bills were surprised at the conduct of their young sons.

The boys have a camp on Guinea hill, where they took the goods they procured, presumably for the purpose of eating the groceries and having a regular Jesse James time. The merchants have discovered the identity of the lads and if any of them attempt to repeat the trick they will be arrested. At least a dozen different cases of this kind have come to light, and the merchants are determined to put a stop to the offense. A description of the boys will be given to the police.

MINING FATALITIES DECREASED IN 1914

Falling Off of 27,000,000 Tons In Production of Bituminous Coal.

Figures compiled by the state department of mines show that during 1914 the number of accidents in and about mines decreased materially over 1913.

Fatal accidents in 1913 were 611 and last year 413, a reduction of 32 per cent. James E. Roderick, chief of the department, claims that "the careful and strict enforcement of the laws of prevention by the state inspectors" is responsible for this. Mine operators are inclined to think that "safety first" regulations about the mines are responsible largely for the decrease.

Roderick says:

"The amount of coal produced during 1914 per fatal accident was 353,207 tons, as against 283,068 in 1913, an increase of 70,121 tons per life lost.

"The fatalities per 1000 employes in 1914 was 2.10, as against 3.22 in 1913, a reduction of 1.12.

"The production in the bituminous region was 145,884,530 tons, as against 172,965,659 tons in 1913, a decrease of 27,081,129 tons.

"The number of employes in 1914 was 195,949. In 1913 the number was 189,909, showing an increase of 6040.

"The department is gratified at the reduction in fatalities, which were less in number than in any year since 1897.

"The fatalities from falls of coal, slate and roof amounted to 61.21 per cent of the total; by cars, 23.75 per cent; by gas, dust and suffocation, 2.11 per cent; by electricity, 6.33 per cent; by miscellaneous causes, 6.60 per cent.

"The accidents from falls and cars amounted to 84.96 per cent, and any reduction in the number of fatal accidents to be hoped for in future must be made by lessening the number from these two causes. This can only be accomplished by the most stringent rules and the enforcement of the greatest discipline by the mine foreman, superintendents and inspectors."

New Orleans, March 8.—George Chip and Jack Dillon were scheduled to mix tonight in a twenty round scrap.

Young Eriton Miner Probably Fatally Hurt

Victor Younick, a young miner employed at the Eriton mines, was probably fatally injured on Saturday afternoon while at work there. He is now in the DuBois hospital in a very serious condition.

Younick was at work when in some manner he was crushed between a coal car and a rib of coal. When the car was stopped and fellow workmen rushed to his aid, they saw at once that he was severely injured. They took him to the surface and called an ambulance from DuBois to take him to the hospital. He was admitted to that institution about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, in a serious condition. His condition was such that the attending physicians could not determine exactly how badly he was injured, but an operation was not advisable under the conditions.

His injuries are all internal, he having been crushed about the abdomen. His condition shows no mark of improvement. Late last night when the hospital was called his condition was reported as not being any better, just about the same as during the day.

DEATH TAKES TWO WELL KNOWN MEN OF THIS BOROUGH

Sudden Summons to Frederick Johnson and Taylor Rowles On Sunday

Mr. Johnson Was Stricken With Paralysis on Friday and Succumbed to Second Attack—Mr. Rowles Expires From Heart Failure While at His Home on the Mill Road.

The Grim Reaper cut down two well known Clearfield residents Sunday, visiting two homes unexpectedly. Both Frederick Johnson and Taylor Rowles had been residents of Clearfield all of their lives, and both were suddenly removed to another world.

Frederick Johnson died this morning at 12:30 o'clock at his home on the corner of Cherry and Second streets, aged 60 years, in the house where he had lived all of his life. He suffered a slight paralytic stroke on Friday and continued to get worse until 10 o'clock last evening, when he had another stroke.

Frederick Johnson was the son of Isaac and Sarah Johnson. He received his education in the public schools of Clearfield. For 35 years he was associated with his brother George in the hardware business on Market street. Two years ago the deceased retired.

He is survived by his mother, aged 93 years, two sisters, Eliza, who lives at home, and Sarah, now Mrs. Lisley, of Nebraska, and three brothers, George, of Clearfield; Charles, of Chehalis, Wash., and John, of Wichita, Kas.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Mr. Johnson was a quiet man, who had many friends, to whom his death came as a great shock.

TAYLOR ROWLES

Taylor Rowles died suddenly at his home on the Mill road yesterday morning at 10 o'clock from heart failure, aged about 60 years.

The deceased was married twice, his first wife, who was Miss Owens, died thirty years ago, leaving three sons, Verne, Lorne and Luther, all of whom survive their father. The second marriage was to Miss Litte, and to them one son Guy, was born. Mrs. Rowles and this son are both living.

Mr. Rowles was the son of the late Taylor Rowles, former court crier.

CLEAN SWEEP PLANNED BY A NEW DEPARTMENT

Gov. Brumbaugh Would Abolish Several Boards And Commissions

WOULD SAVE THE STATE A LARGE AMOUNT

Consolidation of Fisheries and Forestry Departments, Board of Game Commissioners, Water Supply and State Forestry Reservation Commission Under Name of Department of Conservation Would Result in Greater Efficiency and a Reduction of the Expense—Measure Would Rip a Number of Officeholders Out of Their Positions—Governor Has Made No Attempt to Fix Salaries.

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, March 8.—Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh has made public his bill which would abolish the department of fisheries, department of forestry, board of game commissioners, water supply commission and the state forestry reservation commission and create the department of conservation.

The enactment of this legislation would rip from office John P. ("Mauus") Wagner, a member of the fisheries commission, who has carved for himself a place in history by his work at shortstop on the Pittsburg Pirate crew. Another to fall before the "ripper" would be Dr. Charles B. Penrose, brother of the United States senator, who is president of the board of game commissioners.

Efficiency at Less Cost

The bill is being put out for criticism. The governor thinks the creation of this department would result in the elimination of much duplicated work. With the duties of the divisions of government directed by one head, it is the belief of the executive that there will be greater efficiency and in time a reduction of the expense.

The proposed department would be divided into game, fish, forestry and water bureaus. The next section provides that the "commissioner of conservation shall appoint and remove at pleasure a game commissioner, a fish commissioner, a forestry commissioner and water commissioner. The officers so appointed shall receive such salary and perform such duties as the commissioner of conservation may determine." The bill is not clear as to whether these commissioners are to be the bureau heads. The commissioner of conservation also would "appoint a suitable number of game protectors and fish wardens and fix their compensation."

Salaries to Be Decided Upon

The governor has not attempted to fix salaries in the bill, the compensation for the commissioner of conservation, his deputy, and the four bureau heads will be put in the measure later. The commissioner would be given au-

MORE DEAD MINERS FOUND AT LAYLAND

The Total Number of Victims of West Virginia Now Reaches 116

Hinton, W. Va., March 8.—The recovery of 11 bodies yesterday brought the death toll of the Layland mines to 96. From best available sources it is estimated 20 more dead are buried beneath slate falls and debris. All of the 47 men rescued alive Saturday after having lived four days and four nights without food and drink were reported to be in good physical condition and it is expected all will survive the experience.

The rescuers, trained nurses and government experts, showed the effect of their efforts yesterday and many of them, recalling the discovery of still living men in the wrecked mine after 96 hours, broke down and wept. Joy and sadness intermingle in the miners' homes on the side of Quinnimont mountain. Here a husband, brother or son had returned after all hope had been given up. Nearby a wife, sister or mother mourned. In one family, the father was killed and the son returned Saturday as from the dead.

JOHNSONBURG TO HAVE SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

Johnsonburg, March. 8.—The Johnsonbrug authorities have just received from the state department of health at Harrisburg approval of the plans for a sanitary sewer system and disposal plant, work on which the department insists must be completed by December of this year, and the total cost of which is estimated at $50,000. The greater part of the work will be that of putting in the disposal plant, the proposed site of which is along the B., R. & P. tracks south of town, erecting main trunk sewer to this plant and putting a complete sewerage system in the West End, which has no sewers.

TERRE HAUTE OFFICIALS GO ON TRIAL TODAY

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, March 8.—One hundred and fifteen Terre Haute politicians were to be arraigned today for trial in the federal court on charges of gross election frauds. Ruling of the court a few weeks ago upheld the indictments.

Of the 115 indicted, 83 have plead guilty and five not guilty. Mayor Don M Roberts and Judge Eli Redman, of the Vigo circuit court, and Sheriff Dennis Shea are among the most prominent who will fight the case. With them are most of the Terre Haute official family.

Italian Murderer Dies In the Electric Chair

(By United Press)

Rockview, March 8.—Roco Passone, of Lancaster county, died today in the electric chair in the penitentiary here. He paid the penalty for killing an Italian in Lancaster, for which as the member of a black hand gang he received $25.

Passone was a small man, weighing only 95 pounds. He showed no emotion, only interest in the proceedings as he was strapped into the chair and prepared to meet his death. He died hard, five distinct shocks of 2000 volumes each being necessary to cause his death.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors who helped me during the friendly Progress contest. While my wish was not gratified. I was pleased to receive the cash prize and met many friends during the contest I wish to congratulate the ladies who received the more valuable prizes. I hope I can return some day the many favors shown me by my friends in helping me during the contest.

Sincerely yours,
MISS RACHEL FLOOD.

Russians and Austrians Engaged in Fierce Battle

(By United Press)

Petrograd March 8.—The Germans have taken a violent offensive position at Opoczno and [illegible] and badly damaged the [illegible] of Mc-Kenzies' army.

At Pilica the battle has developed into a great battle which greatly overshadows other operations in Poland. The grand duke's army still continues to make progress over the swamps west of Mlava.

The Russian war office last evening made public the following official statement:

"Our offensive continues on the left bank of the Niemen and in the district northwest of Grodno. Our troops drove the Germans back behind the front of Sopotzkin-Lypskov and then pushed on vigorously.

"In a similar manner, in the Mlava district, our attacks were crowned with success. We took about 600 prisoners, including seven officers and also three machine guns.

"In the Carpathians, between the Ondawa and San rivers, the Austrian attacks continue. Southwest of Lutowisko, the enemy tried to cross to the right bank of the San, but in a counter-attack, Saturday night, the Austrian units which had succeeded in crossing the river, were annihilated.

A LESSON IN ADVERTISING

Two rival firms in a Missouri city got into court over the question of the right of a merchant who does not advertise to reap the benefit of the other firm's campaign of publicity. The case reached the Missouri court of appeals, which decided that a merchant who never advertises in the newspapers is not entitled to reap the rewards of the merchant who does. This has been the opinion of private individuals for years, but this is the first time that the opinion has been indorsed by a high court of justice.

While the merchant who does not believe in advertising in the newspapers must indirectly profit from the publicity given store news by his more enterprising neighbor, the non-advertiser must quite frequently look with chagrin at the customers who visit his neighbor's store because that neighbor advertises in the newspapers. Besides making it clear that the non-advertiser has no redress if his trade suffers from his unwise practice, the decision of the Missouri appellate court should serve to show the non-advertiser that he is not entitled to much public respect in failing to patronize the newspapers, which help so materially to build up the interests of a town.

DUM DUM BULLETS AGAIN

Occasionally complaint is made by Germany that dumdum bullets are being made in the United States for use in the armies of the allies. The dumdum bullet was taboo by the nations when they lived in peace, and there does not seem to be an evidence at hand that these ugly pieces of lead, which make ugly wounds are being used in this war. But the Germans evidently expect the United States to make an investigation of the numerous ammunition factories in this country for the purpose of proving whether or not the dumdums are really manufactured here and sold to France or England.

It is noticeable that it is after a Zeppelin raid or subsequent to the use of burning tar in the trenches by German soldiers that the dumdum specter arises. The Zeppelins have been used to slay old men, women and children in unfortified towns, while the dumdum bullets, if they are used at all, are fired at soldiers of the enemy. If the use of dumdums is contrary to the rules of modern warfare, what must be said of the employment of liquid fire by the Germans in their efforts to defeat the French? The Germans are too apt to believe that the world regards anything the kaiser's airmen and troops do as being according to rule.

A CURBSTONE MARKET

Clearfield's Chamber of Commerce and the Progress for some months have been urging the farmers of the county to organize a curb market. The farmers, while no doubt fully aware of the fact that they would greatly benefit from such a market, have thus far failed to unite on the proposition. They continue to allow the middleman to reap the greater harvest from the sale of farm produce and to fix the prices at which farm produce may be sold in this town. This is almost incredible when it is known that curb markets in other towns have enriched farmers and gardeners who have stands thereon.

The Clearfield farmer who today accepts fifty cents a bushel for his apples, only to learn later that the dealer to whom he sold receives seventy-five cents or even a dollar for the same apples must be aware that it would be to his advantage to sell direct to the housekeepers. Potatoes which the farmer sells for sixty-five cents a bushel are readily disposed of by the dealer at from one dollar and a quarter to one dollar and a half. Cannot the farmer see that he is not getting his share of the profits of farming?

With a curb market established the farmer, at very small cost, would be enabled to offer his produce direct to the consumer, and he could ask a fair price and still be much below the prices asked by the dealer. Surely no farmer can fail to realize that if he can sell his produce at a reasonable advance over the price he is paid by the middleman he will benefit. Clearfield county farmers are as intelligent and as thrifty as those in other counties, but they have thus far failed to recognize in the curb market their chance to break away from a custom which has never been to their advantage. Every farmer within twenty miles of Clearfield should be in favor of the establishment of a curb market in this town.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

(By United Press)

Tacoma, Wash., March 8.—One drink will cost Thomas Cannally $4,000—that is, if he takes it. Six moths ago Cannally was sentenced to six months in jail for stealing $4.00 while intoxicated.

After serving a month of his sentence Cannally appealed to Police Justice Evans to be released, offering to deposit $4.000 in cash, to be forfeited in case he took a drink before his term would have expired. Justice Evans agreed and placed the money on deposit in a local bank.

The money was still in the bank today, drawing 3 per cent. interest and Cannally was occupying a seat high on the "water wagon."

Phillies See No Hope Winning 1915 Pennant

Philadelphia, March 8.—The well known depths of despair hold Philadelphia's hopes for a pennant this season. Even the most optimistic fans cannot see themselves standing in line for world's series dusts next October. Both teams have had the severest shake-up this winter in their history and only a miracle can bring either of them to the tape ahead of fourteen other teams.

The disintegragation of the Athletics famous machine is the hardest blow. Philadelphia fans had come to look upon a world's series as an annual affair with Philadelphia—one that was theirs by divine right, or something of that sort—and the crash that shot the famous aggregation into history shook them to their toes.

The justly famous "$100,000 infield" now looks like thirty cents—some of the more belligerent even assert the three should be erased. The famous "Barry to Collins to McInnis" that figured daily in the box scores is gone. Quaker fans begin to sit up and take notice when Bender and Plank, the two men who have brought pennants to Philadelphia year after year with their sterling performances were gone. Then came the Collins deal. That left their hopes stunned a bit more. Before they had time to recover, Frank Baker, king bee swatter of all worlds' series, announced he was through. That was the proverbial last straw.

Mack is now back where he was five or six years ago. True, he still has Barry and McInnis, but the pair seems like the skeleton of a once solid structure. The addition of Larry Lajoie is going to help some, but the veteran is slowing up; he had a bad year last season with the Naps and he is viewed with some skepticism. Kopf the little utility infielder will try to fill Baker's shoes at third, but is woefully weak. He only batted .182 in 84 games last season.

Mack had his old outfielder to begin with again—Strunk, Oldering and Murphy. He is well fortified behind the plate with Lapp and Schang, but his pitching staff should cause him some worry. Bush, Pennock, Wyckoff, Shawkey, and Bressler do not stack up favorably with the Gregg, Wood, Leonard, Collins and Foster combinations which Boston boasts of, nor the Cicotte, Scott, Ben, Russell, Faber contingent upon which White Sox fans rest their hopes.

Another thing which is undoubtedly going to have an effect on the team. That is the absence of the four old stars. They are going to feel strange facing the enemy without them—that old confidence and cock-sureness that won them many games isn't going to be there.

The Phillies are about in the same boat with their fellow-townsmen. There, too, is the absence of old stars a Mighty chmrdluuupupupupupfi(Bun going to be felt. Sherwood Magee, a mighty son of Swat, has gone to Boston, and his old running mate, Honus Lobert, will be seen in a Giant uniform this season. Charley Dooin has gone to Cincinnati. The Phils didn't have a whole lot to start the season with last year, thanks to Jim Gilmore's raiding cohorts, but they have less this season.

Killifer behind the bat is all right; he proved that last season. First base will be occupied as usual by Lauderus, but that about tells the story of Pat Moran's infield. Bryne will be seen at second, but he was not a howling success last season; for short, there is Martin, who played last year, and is about in the same class. Then for third, Moran has Milton Stock, secured from the Giants in the Lobert deal, and a youngster from the Pacific Coast league who is reputed to be a comer. He answers to the name of Dave Bancroft. Stock didn't make a hit with McGraw last season and for that reason was let go. Bancroft is a recruit.

However, Moran is fortunate in having a fairly heavy hitting outfield in Paskert, Cravath and Becker. They should be able to drive in a lot of runs for him this season if they perform in anything like their usual fashion.

Alexander is the big man in Moran's hurling department. He is unquestionably one of the best flippers in the National league. Backing him up are Demaree, Mayer, Tincup, Oescherger, Rixey, Baumgardner, Mattison and Jacobs. Demoree was an erratic performer last season with the Giants, but if he has a good season with the Phils they should be pretty formidable in the box. Rixey and Mayer have proven dependable men in the past.

No, Philadelphia fans are making any books that a pennant is coming here next season. Not hardly any.

A SEA BALLAD

A skiper he sailed for Torbury town,
From some far port on the other side;
His eye was keen and his skin was brown
And his thoughts were full of a waiting bride.
He'd satins and silks, in the murky hold—
He'd wines that were spicy and rich and old
And coffers brimming with good red gold—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

A skipper he sailed for Torbury town,
His heart was light at the thought of home—
He'd a ring for his lass and a garnet gown,
As the ship went speeding across the foam.
But grim as Nemesis—fleet as fear—
The bloody craft of the buccaneer
Followed the ship as mind the do—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

The Jolly Roger it flew abroad.
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
The pirate, scoffing at man and God,
Swept the trader from side to side.
And those who died had God to thank,
For some were spared to walk the plank,
And some were alive when the vessel sank—
Heigh ho the wind and the tide!

The pirate laughed through wolfish teeth,
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
His knife was half way out of its sheath—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
He parted the spoil in the treasure chest.
He saw what was hid in the dead man's breast,
And heaven forbid I should tell the rest—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide.

The waiting was long in Torbury town
To a woman waiting to be a bride,
And a sweet maid's brow bore off a frown—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
For lovers are fickle and who can tell
The ways of them on the deep that dwell?
And the sea it keepeth its secrets well—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

HOTEL DE GINK IN NEW YORK CITY IS PROVING SUCCESS

for legs and cross bars, canvas swung in the middle hammock-fashion and a bed de lux was the result. That is a sample of Hotel de Gink ingenuity.

Work is one big asset of the hotel. Its guests must work. A call comes in from some transfer firm that needs a man for a few hours. A man is sent down. He does the work, gets his pay, puts half of it in the hotel "Kitty" and pockets the rest. Out of "kitty" comes the meals; potatoes, carrots, onions, and perhaps a little meat, are bought and dumped into a huge caldron. This is "mulligan." Bread and coffee comprise the balance of the menu.

Some barber throwing away an old chair became thoughtful and sent it to the Hotel de Gink. A towel company caught the idea and sent down a thousand old towels. One of the two hundred old hoboes was a barber, down on his luck. He is now installed as official hotel barber; it costs nothing for the guest to get his face scraped.

Plumbers from their number mended the aged heating apparatus. An engineer among them is now running it. A long-haired, dreamy-eyed individual, a wanderer with the "itch" in his feet that prevents him from becoming a regular physician, presides over the hospital supplies, which were secured from the city dispensary.

A tailor has his corner where the guests get their clothes mended free of charge. Things which could not be secured by odd jobs of work were bought from the funds in the "kitty". The coal bill the first month was $36.

As a side line, the hotel is rapidly becoming a means of returning "lost" people to their relatives. Seven runaway boys have been returned to their homes since the house was founded. How the boys came to reveal they were runaways only Jeff Davis himself knows. He has a way of getting people's confidence and he has yet to be found guilty of its abuse.

There are strict laws; he "blows," and no ill-feeling remains. In the "lobby" there are numerous signs. One is "Don't Attack Anyone's Religion or Politics;" another is "If You Want a Fight Hunt Jack Johnson;" still another, "Ideas are Loose and Free—Grab One."

There is but one type of a job that hoboes won't take. That is strike-breaking. Neither will they take anyone's job by offering to do it for less money.

They're hoboes, maybe some of them are thieves, but there is more of the fraternal, more charity, more splitting the last loaf spirit in the Hotel de Gink than will be found in any charitable institution in the country.

MORRISDALE

Miss Margaret Womer is slowly recovering from a severe attack of diphtheria.

The quarantine has been removed from the home of Harry Everly.

Charles Cook is moving into the house recently vacated by Dan Casker.

Don Moore, of Munson, was a caller in town Wednesday.

The basket ball games between Munson's big five and Osceola's big five and the Munson's Giants and Morrisdale high school, were two very interesting games, Munson being the victor in both games.

Nath Bennett is home after spending a few months in Johnstown.

Richard Morgan met with an accident while at work in the mines Friday. His arm was broken in two places in jumping from a car.

Joan Hurley and George Brooks, both of Sagamore, called at the home of their uncle, Jacob Tait, on Thursday.

Revival is still continued in the M. E. church.

A party was held at the home of Jacob Tait for their granddaughter, Jeanette Womer, Friday evening.

There are no new cases of diphtheria in our village, and the ones that are suffering from it are recovering.

Landlord Nelson King has a new and a novel way of transforming a screen door with very little expense, and it cannot be beaten.

HEALTH BULLETINS TO BE ERECTED IN PHILADELPHIA

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 8.—The Child Federation association, in conjunction with the newly organized Federation Medical council, today planned to erect health bulletin boards in the streets, courts and alleys of the congested districts here. The bulletins will be printed in every language so that fathers and mothers, of foreign origin who are unable to understand the regular health bulletins, can aid the city authorities to stamp out and prevent the spreading of disease.

DID NOT RECOGNIZE HIS HABERDASHER

An Amusing Story of Lincoln, Apropos of Bible Stories

Many and various are the amusing stories attributed to Abraham Lincoln and like all good story-tellers he became the butt of many funny yarns himself. It is told of him that at one of his early public receptions a man came up and shook his hand. The man proved to be his shirtmaker, but Lincoln did not recognize him and told him so.

"Oh," said the man, "I made your shirts."

In the noise and confusion, Lincoln did not exactly understand him, but with his usual desire to make everybody welcome he turned to his secretary, who stood near, and said:

"Here, Mr. Hay; I want you to meet Major Shurtz."

It was some time before Mr. Lincoln could be made to understand that the man did not claim to be Major Shurtz, but that he said, "I made your shirts," which sounds very much the same.

It was Lincoln who said that the most important book in the library is the Bible. Lincoln was a great student, and much of his learning came from what we term "every day" books. The Bible is one of them, and now the Progress offers such an opportunity. Everybody in town should get "Illustrated Bible Stories" which sets forth all Bible facts and events in a readable, Bible facts and events in a readable, simple and entertaining manner. It is a big $3 value but you can get it for a fraction of its regular price. See the display announcements from day to day and you will at once recognize the necessity for coming into possession of one of these beautiful volumes. Then turn to the certificate on another page of this issue and you will find out just how you can get this magnificent work on practically your own terms.

Don't lose another minute—they are going fast. Clip the certificate and present it with five others.

PHILADELPHIA POLICE FORCE DECLARED TO BE INADEQUATE

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 8.—"The police department of this city is inadequate and in its present condition it cannot guarantee citizens the necessary protection." George D. Porter, director of public safety, made this statement in announcing he will ask councils to appropriate money for the employment of 500 additional policemen at the next meeting of that body.

"These policemen are vitally necessary to cope with the wave of robbery and other crime now sweeping over this city," said Director Porter. "It is impossible to give the city the necessary protection with the present force."

MOTORISTS LAUD GOODRICH STAND

Enthusiastic At Time Reductions—Manufacturers Fall in Line

The following editorial from Motor Age in its February 11th issue is of interest to every user of automobile tires, in that it indicates how popular has been the reception of the Goodrich stand on tire prices. Dealers all over the country report a tremendous increase in the tire business wherever the leading manufacturers have lowered their prices to conform to the Goodrich standard. Orders have been pouring in constantly and in such volume that the men are working night and day.

In their editorial Motor Age says: "The tire situation is clarifying itself and in the process tire lists quite generally are touching new low levels. Since the Goodrich company announced its new lists and the abolishment of percentage discounts in favor of established list prices to the users and net prices to the dealer, half a dozen other makers have revised lists and in practically every case the new figures are lower than the old ones.

"The B. F. Goodrich company by virture of its long establishment, tremendous experience and wonderful equipment is in a position to meet this greatly increased demand with no difficulty. Its officials considered this standardization of tire prices for a long time before they made the announcement which has startled the entire automobile world, and they are positive that the move is the only logical advancement in this industry. Their huge volume of business admitting of a small selling profit for tires has enabled them to set this standard of prices which represents the rock bottom, or, as they call it, the gold standard in tire prices for the country.

"As F. T. Moore, New England manager, recently expressed this whole movement, 'Here is the first "Gold Standard" in tire valuation'

"Somebody had to do it because tire price lists have been getting into the 'joke' class. Price lists were too generally being printed up for the sole purpose of being discounted down by the retailer. Value was being lost sight of in the hot competition as to who could quote the greatest discount off price lists padded up for the purpose.

"Absurd, wasn't it—in an enlightened age like this"

"Some reliable standard to judge values by has been badly needed.

"We have the 'temerity' to cut loose from the padded price list procession and supply it.

"At this writing (Feb. 1, 1915), nine leading tire manufacturers price list (to consumers) quote 34x45 plain tread tires at prices ranging from $24.35 to $33—the Goodrich price is now $19 40

"None of these brands can be proven to average more mileage than Goodrich plain treads, under similar use

"Now observe the difference in price.

"There is only one ready way to determine tire value in advance of wearing out the tires.

"That is to measure its price, for a given size, against the price of the most standardized tire in the field

"This means measure it against the bona fide price list of the Goodrich tire.

"Because—The B. F. Goodrich Co factory is not only the longest established, most experienced and best equipped, but has an annual production of ever 90,000,000 pounds of rubber goods yearly.

"That justified you in believing that its purchasing of raw materials and its manufacturing costs must be the lowest in the field for similar quality.

"In turn, that also means that its huge volume also admits of selling tires on a smaller profit per tire than if it had to take all its overhead expenses out of one kind of rubber product only, or out of smaller volume.

"With such a huge market at stake, it will also be evident that such a concern could not afford to risk its future by charging more for a tire than it would deliver value for, even if the current padded price list system made it easy to do so.

"Because of foregoing, you are invited to henceforth use the Goodrich tire price list as a reliable standard for comparison of values with all other makes."

ACCEPT THIS BOOK

WITH OUR CONGRATULATIONS

It would be impossible for us to present this beautiful illustrated book to PROGRESS readers at a more opportune time. Philadelphia is just now experiencing the greatest religious upheaval in its history. BILLY SUNDAY hands out the great truths of the Bible in the plain language of the every day man and woman. "Illustrated Bible Stories" is Billy Sunday in type and picture. No novel or romance could be more interesting. Quo Vadis, Ben Hur and other religious novels have sold into the millions. We predict a distribution of "Illustrated Bible Stories" greater than any of them.

MORE THAN A MILLION COPIES HAVE BEEN SOLD

Hundreds of our readers have already accepted the opportunity to secure a copy of "Illustrated Bible Stories for Young and Old." All who see this remarkable 800-page book are amazed at the possibility of distributing it for less than one-third of its actual value.

COME TO THE PROGRESS OFFICE

If it were possible for us to persuade everyone who reads this announcement to come to the Progress Office and examine this superb volume, our ability to supply the immediate demand would be severely taxed. The Progress cordially invites every reader to visit its offices and becomes satisfied that "Bible Stories" is in every way full $3 value.

The 500 superb illustrations are alone worth more than the small expense amount necessary to secure the book. It practically amounts to our handing out this volume as a

GIFT TO EVERY READER

It is not necessary that you be religiously inclined in order to enjoy and derive great help and benefit from these interesting stories. Bible deeds and events cover the widest range of every human accomplishment.

This book presents the Bible in story form from Genesis to Revelation; every page is as interesting as a high-class romance; every page contains some helpful suggestion, some noble deed which is worthy of imitation.

Children Enjoy It

Your children, who cannot without great reluctance be persuaded to study The Bible, will read this collection of "Illustrated Bible Stories" with greedy interest. It will further inspire them to read The Bible itself in order to get the information in the actual language of the Scriptures.

Plain language, so simple that any child can understand it, coupled with superb eye-teaching pictures, prevent the possibility of hidden or obscure meaning.

The hundreds of beautiful illustrations delight the hearts of the little ones and satisfy the natural craving for life-like pictures.

Get It For Yourself

Get it for that growing youngster. It will do more to mold a child's character along right lines than any amount of personal admonition.

A $40,000.00 Collection of Pictures

Words cannot describe the beauty of the illustrations scattered throughout the text. There are more than

500 Illustrations

in black and white, reproduced from paintings by the leading artists of two hemispheres. No book has ever before contained such an all-embracing gallery of pictures relating to Bible incidents. Besides these text questions there are

from a famous collection of paintings, considered by authorities everywhere as the most important contribution to scriptural illustration. These wonderful full-page color pictures are alone worth the small expense amount necessary to secure this remarkable book.

thority to remove and appoint "such officers and employes as the work of the department may require." The bill also would confer this authority which some might think dangerous. "Such officers and employes shall receive such salary and perform such duties as the commissioner of conservation may determine."

Another provision of the bill is that all officers and employes of the departments of fisheries and forestry, the board of game commissioners, the water supply commission and the forestry reservation commission not specifically abolished by the proposed act "shall continue in performance of their duties and receive the same compensation until they are removed or their duties or compensation are changed."

All the powers and duties now conferred by law on the various departments and commissions the bill would abolish are transferred to the department of conservation. There is no mention made of having the state police co-operate in the enforcement of game fish, forestry and water laws. It was supposed to be the governor's intention to have this organization aid a commissioner of conservation.

The arms of the government the governor would amalgamate into a new department have 294 employes. The payroll at present amounts to $317,210 annually. In 1913 Gov. John K. side, and Souan Dire, on the European side."

Turks' Big Guns Surprise

The employment of indirect fire from ships on land positions is said to be a new departure in modern warfare. The forts departure in modern warfare. The forts which the Queen Elizabeth is attacking are completely out of sight of the battleship.

The presence of 14-inch guns in the fort of Hamidieh-Tabia was a surprise to the allied French fleet, as previously it had been thought that 11-inch cannon were the greatest possessed by the Turks. Thus far these formidable weapons had not been handled effectively, which indicates that the Turkish gunners are not properly trained.

Quality. Compare Prices

The Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete is all brawn and muscle—no fat

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form."

Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—fictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

IT was their only "come-back." They had to say that, in stripping down prices to the point where they were fair to dealer and consumer and left no room for injurious price-cutting tactics, we had stripped our tires of some quality, too.

THE Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete, is all brawn and muscle—no fat. It represents an achievement—the ability to cut out the extra costs of manufacture, the extra costs of labor, of extra, needless material, and to give you the best, long-mileage, high-standard tire in the world.

There are padded tires as well as padded price lists.

Don't pay for padding.

Now don't forget this—we are talking in the main about Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, for they represent ninety per cent of our factory output for resale.

Furthermore, while we have put the padded prices on smooth tread tires on the run, the evil of padded prices on non-skid tires still is in evidence, as shown in table below:

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, Ohio

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

| Size | Goodrich Safety Tread | OTHER MAKES "A" | "B" | "C" | "D" |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 30x3 | $ 9.45 | $10.55 | $10.95 | $16.35 | $18.10 |
| 30x3½ | 12.20 | 13.35 | 14.20 | 21.70 | 23.60 |
| 32x3½ | 14.00 | 15.40 | 16.30 | 22.85 | 25.30 |
| 34x4 | 20.35 | 22.30 | 23.80 | 31.15 | 33.55 |
| 36x4½ | 28.70 | 32.15 | 33.60 | 41.85 | 41.40 |
| 37x5 | 33.90 | 39.80 | 41.80 | 49.85 | 52.05 |

If you are charged less for any other make than Goodrich, they are taking it out of the tire; if you are charged more, they are taking it out of you.

TWO CRUISERS OF ALLIES ARE PUT OUT OF ACTION

Berlin Reports Disablement Of Ships in Constantinople Bombardment

FRENCH VESSEL SAID TO HAVE BEEN AFIRE

British Admiralty Emphatically Contradicts German Statement and Says Ships Are Safe Outside of the Turkish Fire—Nearly All Civilians Have Fled From Constantinople Since Shelling of Coast Towns Began—Allied Fleet Continues Attack on the Forts and Defenses, the Queen Elizabeth Using the New Method of Indirect Fire, the Forts Being Out of Sight.

(By United Press)

London, March 8. — One French cruiser was put out of action and an English cruiser was damaged on Sunday afternoon in the fighting at the Dardanelles, according to reports received officially from Constantinople by wireless from Berlin. Later unofficial reports confirmed the claims, stating that shells fell upon the deck of the French steamer from the Turkish forts, which slowly steamed outside the firing line, her hulk in flames. Little was said regarding the damage done the British cruiser.

Denied by Admiralty

The British admiralty have firmly contradicted the statements, saying that when they last received reports from the ships they were safe outside the Turkish fire.

According to reports from Athens, nearly all the civilians have fled from the city since the shelling of the coast town by the allied fleet. Part of the troops have been grooped so as to guard the railway from destruction, and inside the strait they are maintaining a stubborn defense.

Shell Inner Defenses

The bombardment of the inner defenses of the Dardanelles and the defenses on the gulf of Saros continued Saturday and today much in the same manner as on the preceding days, the dreadnought Queen Elizabeth battering away at the works on the Asiatic side of the strait by the indirect method of attack, while a part of the fleet poured in a direct fire from within the passageway. A statement issued yesterday by the French ministry of marine at Paris and telegraphed here says:

Queen Elizbeth Busy

"The battleship Queen Elizabeth, stationed in the gulf of Saros, bombarded by indirect fire March 6 the two large works on the Asiatic side of the strait which defend the narrows near Chanak, namely, Forts Hamidiehi-Tabia and Hamidiehi-Sultanie. At the same time battleships which had penetrated the strait continued by direct fire the bombardment of the works at Dardanos, on the Asiatic

LEGISLATURE HAS MANY BILLS READY

Measure to Fix Salories of County Officials on The Calendar

Harrisburg, March 8.—The largest calendars of the present legislative session await the members of the two branches of the general assembly when they meet tonight for the eighth week of the session. Many bills will be introduced and it is likely that some of those recommended by Governor Brumbaugh will appear. The workmen's compensation acts will not be introduced until the suggestions being received are read and conferences had with labor leaders.

The senate has 16 bills on third reading, nine on second, including the amendments to the Philadelphia port laws, and 13 on first reading, including the woman suffrage amendment, cold storage bill, measure prohibiting unnaturalized foreigners from fishing in state streams and creating a third judgeship in Dauphin county.

In the house more than 40 bills are on the calendar. On third reading there is the general repealer of obsolete, invalid and other laws, which have been superseded or declared unconstitutional; bills to establish pension funds in first and second-class cities, for civil service in police, fire and electrical departments in third-class cities, and the Philadelphia housing code repealer. The Spangler bill to fix salaries for county officials in counties having under 150, ) population is on first reading. On second reading are 28 bills, including the early closing bill for liquor selling places, juvenile court and Allegheny county court amendments, requiring all public printing to be done within the state, requiring newspapers to file advertising rates before taking state advertising contracts and making third-class city treasurers elective by the people.

Tuesday night Governor Brumbaugh will meet the committee in charge of Republican platform bills and the same day several committees will give hearings, including that in charge of the optometry bills in the house.

The house appropriations committee will continue inspections and will start work on the preparation of the general appropriation bill.

Italian Murderer Dies In the Electric Chair

(By United Press)

Rockview, March 8.—Roco Passone, of Lancaster county, died today in the electric chair in the penitentiary here. He paid the penalty for killing an Italian in Lancaster, for which as the member of a black hand gang he received $25.

Passone was a small man, weighing only 95 pounds. He showed no emotion, only interest in the proceedings as he was strapped into the chair and prepared to meet his death. He died hard, five distinct shocks of 2000 volumes each being necessary to cause his death.

HOTEL DE GINK IN NEW YORK CITY IS PROVING SUCCESS

Hostelry Established by King Of Hoboes Feeds Many Hungry Men

Is Being Conducted in a Very Satisfactory Manner and is Self-Supporting—Guests are Required to Work and Observe Stringent Rules of Conduct.

By Carlton Ten Eyck
(Written for the United Press)

New York, March 8.—The Hotel de Gink, derided and laughed at by city officials when Jeff Davis, the King of Hoboes, first "blew" into New York and suggested it, is a success. The members of the mayor's committee on employment now admit it. They left Jeff Davis and his bo's alone for a month. At the end of thirty days they went on an inspection tour; what they saw opened their eyes, economically, to quite a large extent.

On an average of two hundred men a day have been fed at the hotel since it opened; that is six hundred meals a day. The meals have cost on an average of slightly over two cents each and, furthermore, they have been clean, well cooked and satisfying. To be sure, there has been no cake and demi tasse served with them; neither do they start off with oysters, but none of the guests has found fault, and that is more than most hotels can say.

The Hotel de Gink has its own barber shop; its own tailoring establishment; its own judicial and law making bodies, and its own hospital. There isn't a policeman to be found within a radius of two blocks of the place.

And it has been self-supporting.

The city has had these men taken off its hands without one cent of cost to it. It solved an economic problem that had Judge Gary and his coworkers scratching their heads to find a solution for.

The city rented the dilapidated old building at Worth and Center streets to the bo's on credit. It had formerly been occupied by a button factory, which had left behind it several tons of white button dust. What to do with the stuff puzzled them for a time. Then one of their number conceived the idea of making a sort of white wash or calcimine of it. They did and the place was thoroughly renovated and made clean. Button manufacturers formerly paid to get this stuff taken off their hands. Now they are selling it for three to five dollars a ton.

The place was bare and dirty. It was cleaned. In cleaning, a great pile of old rusted pipe was found. This was taken and sawed into lengths of seven and one-half feet. The old rusty joints were screwed into shape, the short lengths were used

GIRL GOES 11,000 MILES FOR WEDDING

Indiana, Pa., March 8.—A romance which had its beginning at Perth Amboy, N. J., two years ago will end in a marriage at Sydney, Australia, early in April, when Miss May Brownlee, of this place, completes an 11,000-mile journey to her fiance, Hugh M. Henry, formerly of Perth Amboy, but now of Sydney. Miss Brownlee is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Day Brownlee, of East Church street. She is a graduate of Wilson college and finished the literary course in Columbia university in 1912 and later taught English in the Perth Amboy high school.

It was while engaged in this work that she became acquainted with Mr. Henry. When Mr. Henry left the United States for Sydney to engage in business he carried with him the promise that Miss Brownlee would join him later and become his bride.

She left here last week for San Francisco, from which place she sails on March 16 for Sydney.

Band of Bad Boys Fleece Local Dealers

For some time past Clearfield merchants have been annoyed and have lost considerable money through the activities of a band of boys ranging in age from 13 to 15 years. These boys live in Paradise and have been visiting grocery and other stores, ordering goods and having the same charged to their parents. The parents have known nothing of these transactions and when called upon to pay the bills were surprised at the conduct of their young sons.

The boys have a camp on Guinea hill, where they took the goods they procured, presumably for the purpose of eating the groceries and having a regular Jesse James time. The merchants have discovered the identity of the lads and if any of them attempt to repeat the trick they will be arrested. At least a dozen different cases of this kind have come to light, and the merchants are determined to put a stop to the offense. A description of the boys will be given to the police.

MINING FATALITIES DECREASED IN 1914

Falling Off of 27,000,000 Tons In Production of Bituminous Coal.

Figures compiled by the state department of mines show that during 1914 the number of accidents in and about mines decreased materially over 1913.

Fatal accidents in 1913 were 611 and last year 413, a reduction of 32 per cent. James E. Roderick, chief of the department, claims that "the careful and strict enforcement of the laws of prevention by the state inspectors" is responsible for this. Mine operators are inclined to think that "safety first" regulations about the mines are responsible largely for the decrease.

Roderick says:

"The amount of coal produced during 1914 per fatal accident was 353,207 tons, as against 283,068 in 1913, an increase of 70,121 tons per life lost.

"The fatalities per 1000 employes in 1914 was 2.10, as against 3.22 in 1913, a reduction of 1.12.

"The production in the bituminous region was 145,884,530 tons, as against 172,965,659 tons in 1913, a decrease of 27,081,129 tons.

"The number of employes in 1914 was 195,949. In 1913 the number was 189,909, showing an increase of 6040.

"The department is gratified at the reduction in fatalities, which were less in number than in any year since 1897.

"The fatalities from falls of coal, slate and roof amounted to 61.21 per cent of the total; by cars, 23.75 per cent; by gas, dust and suffocation, 2.11 per cent; by electricity, 6.33 per cent; by miscellaneous causes, 6.60 per cent.

"The accidents from falls and cars amounted to 84.96 per cent, and any reduction in the number of fatal accidents to be hoped for in future must be made by lessening the number from these two causes. This can only be accomplished by the most stringent rules and the enforcement of the greatest discipline by the mine foreman, superintendents and inspectors."

Young Eriton Miner Probably Fatally Hurt

Victor Younick, a young miner employed at the Eriton mines, was probably fatally injured on Saturday afternoon while at work there. He is now in the DuBois hospital in a very serious condition.

Younick was at work when in some manner he was crushed between a coal car and a rib of coal. When the car was stopped and fellow workmen rushed to his aid, they saw at once that he was severely injured. They took him to the surface and called an ambulance from DuBois to take him to the hospital. He was admitted to that institution about 5 o'clock Saturday evening, in a serious condition. His condition was such that the attending physicians could not determine exactly how badly he was injured, but an operation was not advisable under the conditions.

His injuries are all internal, he having been crushed about the abdomen. His condition shows no mark of improvement. Late last night when the hospital was called his condition was reported as not being any better, just about the same as during the day.

DEATH TAKES TWO WELL KNOWN MEN OF THIS BOROUGH

Sudden Summons to Frederick Johnson and Taylor Rowles On Sunday

Mr. Johnson Was Stricken With Paralysis on Friday and Succumbed to Second Attack—Mr. Rowles Expires From Heart Failure While at His Home on the Mill Road.

The Grim Reaper cut down two well known Clearfield residents Sunday, visiting two homes unexpectedly. Both Frederick Johnson and Taylor Rowles had been residents of Clearfield all of their lives, and both were suddenly removed to another world.

Frederick Johnson died this morning at 12:30 o'clock at his home on the corner of Cherry and Second streets, aged 60 years, in the house where he had lived all of his life. He suffered a slight paralytic stroke on Friday and continued to get worse until 10 o'clock last evening, when he had another stroke.

Frederick Johnson was the son of Isaac and Sarah Johnson. He received his education in the public schools of Clearfield. For 35 years he was associated with his brother George in the hardware business on Market street. Two years ago the deceased retired.

He is survived by his mother, aged 93 years, two sisters, Eliza, who lives at home, and Sarah, now Mrs. Lisley, of Nebraska, and three brothers, George, of Clearfield; Charles, of Chehalis, Wash., and John, of Wichita, Kas.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Mr. Johnson was a quiet man, who had many friends, to whom his death came as a great shock.

TAYLOR ROWLES

Taylor Rowles died suddenly at his home on the Mill road yesterday morning at 10 o'clock from heart failure, aged about 60 years.

The deceased was married twice, his first wife, who was Miss Owens, died thirty years ago, leaving three sons, Verne, Lorne and Luther, all of whom survive their father. The second marriage was to Miss Litte, and to them one son Guy, was born. Mrs. Rowles and this son are both living.

Mr. Rowles was the son of the late Taylor Rowles, former court crier.

CLEAN SWEEP PLANNED BY A NEW DEPARTMENT

Gov. Brumbaugh Would Abolish Several Boards And Commissions

WOULD SAVE THE STATE A LARGE AMOUNT

Consolidation of Fisheries and Forestry Departments, Board of Game Commissioners, Water Supply and State Forestry Reservation Commission Under Name of Department of Conservation Would Result in Greater Efficiency and a Reduction of the Expense—Measure Would Rip a Number of Officeholders Out of Their Positions—Governor Has Made No Attempt to Fix Salaries.

(By United Press)

Harrisburg, March 8.—Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh has made public his bill which would abolish the department of fisheries, department of forestry, board of game commissioners, water supply commission and the state forestry reservation commission and create the department of conservation.

The enactment of this legislation would rip from office John P. ("Mauus") Wagner, a member of the fisheries commission, who has carved for himself a place in history by his work at shortstop on the Pittsburg Pirate crew. Another to fall before the "ripper" would be Dr. Charles B. Penrose, brother of the United States senator, who is president of the board of game commissioners.

Efficiency at Less Cost

The bill is being put out for criticism. The governor thinks the creation of this department would result in the elimination of much duplicated work. With the duties of the divisions of government directed by one head, it is the belief of the executive that there will be greater efficiency and in time a reduction of the expense.

The proposed department would be divided into game, fish, forestry and water bureaus. The next section provides that the "commissioner of conservation shall appoint and remove at pleasure a game commissioner, a fish commissioner, a forestry commissioner and water commissioner. The officers so appointed shall receive such salary and perform such duties as the commissioner of conservation may determine." The bill is not clear as to whether these commissioners are to be the bureau heads. The commissioner of conservation also would "appoint a suitable number of game protectors and fish wardens and fix their compensation."

Salaries to Be Decided Upon

The governor has not attempted to fix salaries in the bill, the compensation for the commissioner of conservation, his deputy, and the four bureau heads will be put in the measure later. The commissioner would be given au-

MORE DEAD MINERS FOUND AT LAYLAND

The Total Number of Victims of West Virginia Now Reaches 116

Hinton, W. Va., March 8.—The recovery of 11 bodies yesterday brought the death toll of the Layland mines to 96. From best available sources it is estimated 20 more dead are buried beneath slate falls and debris. All of the 47 men rescued alive Saturday after having lived four days and four nights without food and drink were reported to be in good physical condition and it is expected all will survive the experience.

The rescuers, trained nurses and government experts, showed the effect of their efforts yesterday and many of them, recalling the discovery of still living men in the wrecked mine after 96 hours, broke down and wept. Joy and sadness intermingle in the miners' homes on the side of Quinnimont mountain. Here a husband, brother or son had returned after all hope had been given up. Nearby a wife, sister or mother mourned. In one family, the father was killed and the son returned Saturday as from the dead.

JOHNSONBURG TO HAVE SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

Johnsonburg, March. 8.—The Johnsonbrug authorities have just received from the state department of health at Harrisburg approval of the plans for a sanitary sewer system and disposal plant, work on which the department insists must be completed by December of this year, and the total cost of which is estimated at $50,000. The greater part of the work will be that of putting in the disposal plant, the proposed site of which is along the B., R. & P. tracks south of town, erecting main trunk sewer to this plant and putting a complete sewerage system in the West End, which has no sewers.

TERRE HAUTE OFFICIALS GO ON TRIAL TODAY

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, March 8.—One hundred and fifteen Terre Haute politicians were to be arraigned today for trial in the federal court on charges of gross election frauds. Ruling of the court a few weeks ago upheld the indictments.

Of the 115 indicted, 83 have plead guilty and five not guilty. Mayor Don M Roberts and Judge Eli Redman, of the Vigo circuit court, and Sheriff Dennis Shea are among the most prominent who will fight the case. With them are most of the Terre Haute official family.

Rurode is Sentenced To Prison

(By United Press)

New York, March 8.—Karl Rurode indicted with four others in the government passport scandal, plead guilty today. He was sentenced to three years in the federal prison at Atlanta

Rurode admitted that he was guilty of securing passports for Germans illegally and that he was also guilty of forgery. The trial of the four other men indicted has not been set.

Russians and Austrians Engaged in Fierce Battle

(By United Press)

Petrograd March 8.—The Germans have taken a violent offensive position at Opoczno and Inowof and badly damaged the fighting of Mackenzies' army.

At Pilica the battle has developed into a great battle which greatly overshadows other operations in Poland. The grand duke's army still continues to make progress over the swamps west of Mlava.

The Russian war office last evening made public the following official statement:

"Our offensive continues on the left bank of the Niemen and in the district northwest of Grodno. Our troops drove the Germans back behind the front of Sopotskin-Lypskov and then pushed on vigorously.

"In a similar manner, in the Mlava district, our attacks were crowned with success. We took about 600 prisoners, including seven officers and also three machine guns.

"In the Carpathians, between the Ondawa and San rivers, the Austrian attacks continue. Southwest of Lutowisko, the enemy tried to cross to the right bank of the San, but in a counter-attack, Saturday night, the Austrian units which had succeeded in crossing the river, were annihilated.

A LESSON IN ADVERTISING

Two rival firms in a Missouri city got into court over the question of the right of a merchant who does not advertise to reap the benefit of the other firm's campaign of publicity. The case reached the Missouri court of appeals, which decided that a merchant who never advertises in the newspapers is not entitled to reap the rewards of the merchant who does. This has been the opinion of private individuals for years, but this is the first time that the opinion has been indorsed by a high court of justice.

While the merchant who does not believe in advertising in the newspapers must indirectly profit from the publicity given store news by his more enterprising neighbor, the non-advertiser must quite frequently look with chagrin at the customers who visit his neighbor's store because that neighbor advertises in the newspapers. Besides making it clear that the non-advertiser has no redress if his trade suffers from his unwise practice, the decision of the Missouri appellate court should serve to show the non-advertiser that he is not entitled to much public respect in failing to patronize the newspapers, which help so materially to build up the interests of a town.

DUM DUM BULLETS AGAIN

Occasionally complaint is made by Germany that dumdum bullets are being made in the United States for use in the armies of the allies. The dumdum bullet was taboo by the nations when they lived in peace, and there does not seem to be an evidence at hand that these ugly pieces of lead, which make ugly wounds are being used in this war. But the Germans evidently expect the United States to make an investigation of the numerous ammunition factories in this country for the purpose of proving whether or not the dumdums are really manufactured here and sold to France or England.

It is noticeable that it is after a Zeppelin raid or subsequent to the use of burning tar in the trenches by German soldiers that the dumdum specter arises. The Zeppelins have been used to slay old men, women and children in unfortified towns, while the dumdum bullets, if they are used at all, are fired at soldiers of the enemy. If the use of dumdums is contrary to the rules of modern warfare, what must be said of the employment of liquid fire by the Germans in their efforts to defeat the French? The Germans are too apt to believe that the world regards anything the kaiser's airmen and troops do as being according to rule.

A CURBSTONE MARKET

Clearfield's Chamber of Commerce and the Progress for some months have been urging the farmers of the county to organize a curb market. The farmers, while no doubt fully aware of the fact that they would greatly benefit from such a market, have thus far failed to unite on the proposition. They continue to allow the middleman to reap the greater harvest from the sale of farm produce and to fix the prices at which farm produce may be sold in this town. This is almost incredible when it is known that curb markets in other towns have enriched farmers and gardeners who have stands thereon.

The Clearfield farmer who today accepts fifty cents a bushel for his apples, only to learn later that the dealer to whom he sold receives seventy-five cents or even a dollar for the same apples must be aware that it would be to his advantage to sell direct to the housekeepers. Potatoes which the farmer sells for sixty-five cents a bushel are readily disposed of by the dealer at from one dollar and a quarter to one dollar and a half. Cannot the farmer see that he is not getting his share of the profits of farming?

With a curb market established the farmer, at very small cost, would be enabled to offer his produce direct to the consumer, and he could ask a fair price and still be much below the prices asked by the dealer. Surely no farmer can fail to realize that if he can sell his produce at a reasonable advance over the price he is paid by the middleman he will benefit. Clearfield county farmers are as intelligent and as thrifty as those in other counties, but they have thus far failed to recognize in the curb market their chance to break away from a custom which has never been to their advantage. Every farmer within twenty miles of Clearfield should be in favor of the establishment of a curb market in this town.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

(By United Press)

Tacoma, Wash., March 8.—One drink will cost Thomas Cannally $4,000—that is, if he takes it. Six moths ago Cannally was sentenced to six months in jail for stealing $4.00 while intoxicated.

After serving a month of his sentence Cannally appealed to Police Justice Evans to be released, offering to deposit $4.000 in cash, to be forfeited in case he took a drink before his term would have expired. Justice Evans agreed and placed the money on deposit in a local bank.

The money was still in the bank today, drawing 3 per cent. interest and Cannally was occupying a seat high on the "water wagon."

Phillies See No Hope Winning 1915 Pennant

Philadelphia, March 8.—The well known depths of despair hold Philadelphia's hopes for a pennant this season. Even the most optimistic fans cannot see themselves standing in line for world's series dusts next October. Both teams have had the severest shake-up this winter in their history and only a miracle can bring either of them to the tape ahead of fourteen other teams.

The disintegragation of the Athletics famous machine is the hardest blow. Philadelphia fans had come to look upon a world's series as an annual affair with Philadelphia—one that was theirs by divine right, or something of that sort—and the crash that shot the famous aggregation into history shook them to their toes.

The justly famous "$100,000 infield" now looks like thirty cents—some of the more belligerent even assert the three should be erased. The famous "Barry to Collins to McInnis" that figured daily in the box scores is gone. Quaker fans begin to sit up and take notice when Bender and Plank, the two men who have brought pennants to Philadelphia year after year with their sterling performances were gone. Then came the Collins deal. That left their hopes stunned a bit more. Before they had time to recover, Frank Baker, king bee swatter of all worlds' series, announced he was through. That was the proverbial last straw.

Mack is now back where he was five or six years ago. True, he still has Barry and McInnis, but the pair seems like the skeleton of a once solid structure. The addition of Larry Lajoie is going to help some, but the veteran is slowing up; he had a bad year last season with the Naps and he is viewed with some skepticism. Kopf the little utility infielder will try to fill Baker's shoes at third, but is woefully weak. He only batted .182 in 84 games last season.

Mack had his old outfielder to begin with again—Strunk, Oldering and Murphy. He is well fortified behind the plate with Lapp and Schang, but his pitching staff should cause him some worry. Bush, Pennock, Wyckoff, Shawkey, and Bressler do not stack up favorably with the Gregg, Wood, Leonard, Collins and Foster combinations which Boston boasts of, nor the Cicotte, Scott, Ben, Russell, Faber contingent upon which White Sox fans rest their hopes.

Another thing which is undoubtedly going to have an effect on the team. That is the absence of the four old stars. They are going to feel strange facing the enemy without them—that old confidence and cock-sureness that won them many games isn't going to be there.

The Phillies are about in the same boat with their fellow-townsmen. There, too, is the absence of old stars a Mighty chnrdluuupupupupupfi(Bun going to be felt. Sherwood Magee, a mighty son of Swat, has gone to Boston, and his old running mate, Honus Lobert, will be seen in a Giant uniform this season. Charley Dooin has gone to Cincinnati. The Phils didn't have a whole lot to start the season with last year, thanks to Jim Gilmore's raiding cohorts, but they have less this season.

Killifer behind the bat is all right; he proved that last season. First base will be occupied as usual by Lauderus, but that about tells the story of Pat Moran's infield. Bryne will be seen at second, but he was not a howling success last season; for short, there is Martin, who played last year, and is about in the same class. Then for third, Moran has Milton Stock, secured from the Giants in the Lobert deal, and a youngster from the Pacific Coast league who is reputed to be a comer. He answers to the name of Dave Bancroft. Stock didn't make a hit with McGraw last season and for that reason was let go. Bancroft is a recruit.

However, Moran is fortunate in having a fairly heavy hitting outfield in Paskert, Cravath and Becker. They should be able to drive in a lot of runs for him this season if they perform in anything like their usual fashion.

Alexander is the big man in Moran's hurling department. He is unquestionably one of the best flippers in the National league. Backing him up are Demaree, Mayer, Tincup, Oescherger, Rixey, Baumgardner, Mattison and Jacobs. Demoree was an erratic performer last season with the Giants, but if he has a good season with the Phils they should be pretty formidable in the box. Rixey and Mayer have proven dependable men in the past.

No, Philadelphia fans are making any books that a pennant is coming here next season. Not hardly any.

A SEA BALLAD

A skiper he sailed for Torbury town,
From some far port on the other side;
His eye was keen and his skin was brown
And his thoughts were full of a waiting bride.
He'd satins and silks, in the murky hold—
He'd wines that were spicy and rich and old
And coffers brimming with good red gold—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

A skipper he sailed for Torbury town,
His heart was light at the thought of home—
He'd a ring for his lass and a garnet gown,
As the ship went speeding across the foam.
But grim as Nemesis—fleet as fear—
The bloody craft of the buccaneer
Followed the ship as round the sea—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

The Jolly Roger it flew abroad.
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
The pirate, scoffing at man and God,
Swept the trader from side to side.
And those who died had God to thank,
For some were spared to walk the plank,
And some were alive when the vessel sank—
Heigh ho the wind and the tide!

The pirate laughed through wolfish teeth,
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
His knife was half way out of its sheath—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
He parted the spoil in the treasure chest.
He saw what was hid in the dead man's breast,
And heaven forbid I should tell the rest—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide.

The waiting was long in Torbury town
To a woman waiting to be a bride,
And a sweet maid's brow bore off a frown—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!
For lovers are fickle and who can tell
The ways of them on the deep that dwell?
And the sea it keepeth its secrets well—
Heigh-ho! the wind and the tide!

HOTEL DE GINK IN NEW YORK CITY IS PROVING SUCCESS

for legs and cross bars, canvas swung in the middle hammock-fashion and a bed de lux was the result. That is a sample of Hotel de Gink ingenuity.

Work is one big asset of the hotel. Its guests must work. A call comes in from some transfer firm that needs a man for a few hours. A man is sent down. He does the work, gets his pay, puts half of it in the hotel "Kitty" and pockets the rest. Out of "kitty" comes the meals; potatoes, carrots, onions, and perhaps a little meat, are bought and dumped into a huge caldron. This is "mulligan." Bread and coffee comprise the balance of the menu.

Some barber throwing away an old chair became thoughtful and sent it to the Hotel de Gink. A towel company caught the idea and sent down a thousand old towels. One of the two hundred old hoboes was a barber, down on his luck. He is now installed as official hotel barber; it costs nothing for the guest to get his face scraped.

Plumbers from their number mended the aged heating apparatus. An engineer among them is now running it. A long-haired, dreamy-eyed individual, a wanderer with the "itch" in his feet that prevents him from becoming a regular physician, presides over the hospital supplies, which were secured from the city dispensary.

A tailor has his corner where the guests get their clothes mended free of charge. Things which could not be secured by odd jobs of work were bought from the funds in the "kitty". The coal bill the first month was $36.

As a side line, the hotel is rapidly becoming a means of returning "lost" people to their relatives. Seven runaway boys have been returned to their homes since the house was founded. How the boys came to reveal they were runaways only Jeff Davis himself knows. He has a way of getting people's confidence and he has yet to be found guilty of its abuse.

There are strict laws; he "blows," and no ill-feeling remains. In the "lobby" there are numerous signs. One is "Don't Attack Anyone's Religion or Politics;" another is "If You Want a Fight Hunt Jack Johnson;" still another, "Ideas are Loose and Free—Grab One."

There is but one type of a job that hoboes won't take. That is strike-breaking. Neither will they take anyone's job by offering to do it for less money.

They're hoboes, maybe some of them are thieves, but there is more of the fraternal, more charity, more splitting the last loaf spirit in the Hotel de Gink than will be found in any charitable institution in the country.

MORRISDALE

Miss Margaret Womer is slowly recovering from a severe attack of diphtheria.

The quarantine has been removed from the home of Harry Everly.

Charles Cook is moving into the house recently vacated by Dan Casker.

Don Moore, of Munson, was a caller in town Wednesday.

The basket ball games between Munson's big five and Osceola's big five and the Munson's Giants and Morrisdale high school, were two very interesting games, Munson being the victor in both games.

Nath Bennett is home after spending a few months in Johnstown.

Richard Morgan met with an accident while at work in the mines Friday. His arm was broken in two places in jumping from a car.

Joan Hurley and George Brooks, both of Sagamore, called at the home of their uncle, Jacob Tait, on Thursday.

Revival is still continued in the M. E. church.

A party was held at the home of Jacob Tait for their granddaughter, Jeanette Womer, Friday evening.

There are no new cases of diphtheria in our village, and the ones that are suffering from it are recovering.

Landlord Nelson King has a new and a novel way of transforming a screen door with very little expense, and it cannot be beaten.

HEALTH BULLETINS TO BE ERECTED IN PHILADELPHIA

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 8.—The Child Federation association, in conjunction with the newly organized Federation Medical council, today planned to erect health bulletin boards in the streets, courts and alleys of the congested districts here. The bulletins will be printed in every language so that fathers and mothers, of foreign origin who are unable to understand the regular health bulletins, can aid the city authorities to stamp out and prevent the spreading of disease.

DID NOT RECOGNIZE HIS HABERDASHER

An Amusing Story of Lincoln, Apropos of Bible Stories

Many and various are the amusing stories attributed to Abraham Lincoln and like all good story-tellers he became the butt of many funny yarns himself. It is told of him that at one of his early public receptions a man came up and shook his hand. The man proved to be his shirtmaker, but Lincoln did not recognize him and told him so.

"Oh," said the man, "I made your shirts."

In the noise and confusion, Lincoln did not exactly understand him, but with his usual desire to make everybody welcome he turned to his secretary, who stood near, and said:

"Here, Mr. Hay; I want you to meet Major Shurtz."

It was some time before Mr. Lincoln could be made to understand that the man did not claim to be Major Shurtz, but that he said, "I made your shirts," which sounds very much the same.

It was Lincoln who said that the most important book in the library is the Bible. Lincoln was a great student, and much of his learning came from what we term "every day" books. The Bible is one of them, and now the Progress offers such an opportunity. Everybody in town should get "Illustrated Bible Stories" which sets forth all Bible facts and events in a readable, Bible facts and events in a readable, simple and entertaining manner. It is a big $3 value but you can get it for a fraction of its regular price. See the display announcements from day to day and you will at once recognize the necessity for coming into possession of one of these beautiful volumes. Then turn to the certificate on another page of this issue and you will find out just how you can get this magnificent work on practically your own terms.

Don't lose another minute—they are going fast. Clip the certificate and present it with five others.

PHILADELPHIA POLICE FORCE DECLARED TO BE INADEQUATE

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, March 8.—"The police department of this city is inadequate and in its present condition it cannot guarantee citizens the necessary protection." George D. Porter, director of public safety, made this statement in announcing he will ask councils to appropriate money for the employment of 500 additional policemen at the next meeting of that body.

"These policemen are vitally necessary to cope with the wave of robbery and other crime now sweeping over this city," said Director Porter. "It is impossible to give the city the necessary protection with the present force."

MOTORISTS LAUD GOODRICH STAND

Enthusiastic At Time Reductions—Manufacturers Fall in Line

The following editorial from Motor Age in its February 11th issue is of interest to every user of automobile tires, in that it indicates how popular has been the reception of the Goodrich stand on tire prices. Dealers all over the country report a tremendous increase in the tire business wherever the leading manufacturers have lowered their prices to conform to the Goodrich standard. Orders have been pouring in constantly and in such volume that the men are working night and day.

In their editorial Motor Age says: "The tire situation is clarifying itself and in the process tire lists quite generally are touching new low levels. Since the Goodrich company announced its new lists and the abolishment of percentage discounts in favor of established list prices to the users and net prices to the dealer, half a dozen other makers have revised lists and in practically every case the new figures are lower than the old ones.

"The B. F. Goodrich company by virture of its long establishment, tremendous experience and wonderful equipment is in a position to meet this greatly increased demand with no difficulty. Its officials considered this standardization of tire prices for a long time before they made the announcement which has startled the entire automobile world, and they are positive that the move is the only logical advancement in this industry. Their huge volume of business admitting of a small selling profit for tires has enabled them to set this standard of prices which represents the rock bottom, or, as they call it, the gold standard in tire prices for the country.

"As F. T. Moore, New England manager, recently expressed this whole movement, 'Here is the first "Gold Standard" in tire valuation'

"Somebody had to do it because tire price lists have been getting into the 'joke' class. Price lists were too generally being printed up for the sole purpose of being discounted down by the retailer. Value was being lost sight of in the hot competition as to who could quote the greatest discount off price lists padded up for the purpose.

"Absurd, wasn't it—in an enlightened age like this"

"Some reliable standard to judge values by has been badly needed.

"We have the 'temerity' to cut loose from the padded price list procession and supply it.

"At this writing (Feb. 1, 1915), nine leading tire manufacturers price list (to consumers) quote 34x45 plain tread tires at prices ranging from $24.35 to $33—the Goodrich price is now $19 40

"None of these brands can be proven to average more mileage than Goodrich plain treads, under similar use

"Now observe the difference in price.

"There is only one ready way to determine tire value in advance of wearing out the tires.

"That is to measure its price, for a given size, against the price of the most standardized tire in the field

"This means measure it against the bona fide price list of the Goodrich tire.

"Because—The B. F. Goodrich Co factory is not only the longest established, most experienced and best equipped, but has an annual production of ever 90,000,000 pounds of rubber goods yearly.

"That justified you in believing that its purchasing of raw materials and its manufacturing costs must be the lowest in the field for similar quality.

"In turn, that also means that its huge volume also admits of selling tires on a smaller profit per tire than if it had to take all its overhead expenses out of one kind of rubber product only, or out of smaller volume.

"With such a huge market at stake, it will also be evident that such a concern could not afford to risk its future by charging more for a tire than it would deliver value for, even if the current padded price list system made it easy to do so.

"Because of foregoing, you are invited to henceforth use the Goodrich tire price list as a reliable standard for comparison of values with all other makes."

ACCEPT THIS BOOK

WITH OUR CONGRATULATIONS

It would be impossible for us to present this beautiful illustrated book to PROGRESS readers at a more opportune time. Philadelphia is just now experiencing the greatest religious upheaval in its history. BILLY SUNDAY hands out the great truths of the Bible in the plain language of the every day man and woman. "Illustrated Bible Stories" is Billy Sunday in type and picture. No novel or romance could be more interesting. Quo Vadis, Ben Hur and other religious novels have sold into the millions. We predict a distribution of "Illustrated Bible Stories" greater than any of them.

MORE THAN A MILLION COPIES HAVE BEEN SOLD

Hundreds of our readers have already accepted the opportunity to secure a copy of "Illustrated Bible Stories for Young and Old." All who see this remarkable 800-page book are amazed at the possibility of distributing it for less than one-third of its actual value.

COME TO THE PROGRESS OFFICE

If it were possible for us to persuade everyone who reads this announcement to come to the Progress Office and examine this superb volume, our ability to supply the immediate demand would be severely taxed. The Progress cordially invites every reader to visit its offices and becomes satisfied that "Bible Stories" is in every way full $3 value.

The 500 superb illustrations are alone worth more than the small expense amount necessary to secure the book. It practically amounts to our handing out this volume as a

GIFT TO EVERY READER

It is not necessary that you be religiously inclined in order to enjoy and derive great help and benefit from these interesting stories. Bible deeds and events cover the widest range of every human accomplishment.

This book presents the Bible in story form from Genesis to Revelation; every page is as interesting as a high-class romance; every page contains some helpful suggestion, some noble deed which is worthy of imitation.

Children Enjoy It

Your children, who cannot without great reluctance be persuaded to study The Bible, will read this collection of "Illustrated Bible Stories" with greedy interest. It will further inspire them to read The Bible itself in order to get the information in the actual language of the Scriptures.

Plain language, so simple that any child can understand it, coupled with superb eye-teaching pictures, prevent the possibility of hidden or obscure meaning.

The hundreds of beautiful illustrations delight the hearts of the little ones and satisfy the natural craving for life-like pictures.

Get It For Yourself

Get it for that growing youngster. It will do more to mold a child's character along right lines than any amount of personal admonition.

A $40,000.00 Collection of Pictures

Words cannot describe the beauty of the illustrations scattered throughout the text. There are more than

500 Illustrations

in black and white, reproduced from paintings by the leading artists of two hemispheres. No book has ever before contained such an all-embracing gallery of pictures relating to Bible incidents. Besides these text questions there are from a famous collection of paintings, considered by authorities everywhere as the most important contribution to scriptural illustration. These wonderful full-page color pictures are alone worth the small expense amount necessary to secure this remarkable book.

Clip Today's Certificate From Page Two

Bring it, with five others of consecutive date with the expense amount of 89 cents, to the office of this paper, and secure without extra cost this wonderful $3 book.

The $3 book is 6 3-4x9 inches, 800 Pages, bound in sea-green Vellum. This is a greatly reduced illustration.

thority to remove and appoint "such officers and employes as the work of the department may require." The bill also would confer this authority which some might think dangerous. "Such officers and employes shall receive such salary and perform such duties as the commissioner of conservation may determine."

Another provision of the bill is that all officers and employes of the departments of fisheries and forestry, the board of game commissioners, the water supply commission and the forestry reservation commission not specifically abolished by the proposed act "shall continue in performance of their duties and receive the same compensation until they are removed or their duties or compensation are changed."

All the powers and duties now conferred by law on the various departments and commissions the bill would abolish are transferred to the department of conservation. There is no mention made of having the state police co-operate in the enforcement of game fish, forestry and water laws. It was supposed to be the governor's intention to have this organization aid a commissioner of conservation.

The arms of the government the governor would amalgamate into a new department have 294 employes. The payroll at present amounts to $317,210 annually. In 1913 Gov. John K. Tener approved appropriations for the two years for $1,430,288.94. This year these same divisions are asking $2,240,700, or an increase of $818,412.

side, and Souan Dire, on the European side."

Turks' Big Guns Surprise

The employment of indirect fire from ships on land positions is said to be a new departure in modern warfare. The forts departure in modern warfare. The forts which the Queen Elizabeth is attacking are completely out of sight of the battleship.

The presence of 14-inch guns in the fort of Hamidieh-Tabia was a surprise to the allied French fleet, as previously it had been thought that 11-inch cannon were the greatest possessed by the Turks. Thus far these formidable weapons had not been handled effectively, which indicates that the Turkish gunners are not properly trained.

Quality. Compare Prices

The Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete is all brawn and muscle—no fat

THE old Olympic Game promoters were great for what we call "form."

Symmetry, proportion, soundness and proper balance out-bid bulging muscles for favor—yes, and out-won, too, just as they will today.

Mere bulk never was synonymous with endurance—and the truth of this statement drives home with a bang, when you apply it to tires.

IF thick, heavy tires were the last word in tire construction, we could wipe out of existence a Goodrich Research and Test Department employing seventy people. We would take off the road a battalion of ten automobiles, that run twenty-four hours a day and every day in the year, grinding tires of all makes to pieces, just for the sake of information to us and eventual economy to the user of Goodrich Tires.

There is where we learn to cut out of a tire the material which gets the user nothing.

Of course, when we stripped tire price lists of their padding—fictitious values—we expected rivals to say we had stripped our tires.

IT was their only "come-back." They had to say that, in stripping down prices to the point where they were fair to dealer and consumer and left no room for injurious price-cutting tactics, we had stripped our tires of some quality, too.

THE Goodrich Tire, like the trained athlete, is all brawn and muscle—no fat. It represents an achievement—the ability to cut out the extra costs of manufacture, the extra costs of labor, of extra, needless material, and to give you the best, long-mileage, high-standard tire in the world.

There are padded tires as well as padded price lists.

Don't pay for padding.

Now don't forget this—we are talking in the main about Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, for they represent ninety per cent of our factory output for resale.

Furthermore, while we have put the padded prices on smooth tread tires on the run, the evil of padded prices on non-skid tires still is in evidence, as shown in table below:

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, Ohio

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly-advertised tires:

| Size | Goodrich Safety Tread | OTHER MAKES "A" | "B" | "C" | "D" |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 30x3 | $ 9.45 | $10.55 | $10.95 | $16.35 | $18.10 |
| 30x3½ | 12.20 | 13.35 | 14.20 | 21.70 | 23.60 |
| 32x3½ | 14.00 | 15.40 | 16.30 | 22.85 | 25.30 |
| 34x4 | 20.35 | 22.30 | 23.80 | 31.15 | 33.55 |
| 36x4½ | 28.70 | 32.15 | 33.60 | 41.85 | 41.40 |
| 37x5 | 33.90 | 39.80 | 41.80 | 49.85 | 52.05 |
